“We have used a competitor’s textured elastomeric for years and could find no other comparable product to work as well. The ConFlex XL Texture High Build Coating sprayed as well- if not better than the competitor. It also did an excellent job of hiding the blemishes in the concrete panels.”

Robert Adkins

New Construction

ConFlex XL High Build Coating is the perfect waterproof protection for masonry buildings in coastal or severe weather environments.

Protection that saves labor and time

Application is uniform, smooth and efficient, resulting in a pinhole-free finish with less labor. The thick, elastic film hides hairline cracks, patches and surface irregularities. ConFlex XL eliminates the passage of water to interior surfaces, even in wind-driven rain.

Long-lasting customer satisfaction

ConFlex XL leads to fewer callbacks and higher customer satisfaction because it will not trap moisture vapor inside, virtually eliminating blistering and failures. The freshly coated final appearance lasts longer, with excellent resistance to white surface staining (efflorescence). A performance warranty is available.

Use ConFlex XL on all types of commercial or residential new masonry construction or repaints:

- Stucco
- Concrete panel
- Pre-cast concrete panel
- CMU

Available in a wide range of custom colors with fast turnaround to improve availability and contractor efficiency.

Choose ConFlex XL Texture to improve appearance of irregular surfaces and waterproof at the same time.

With ConFlex XL Texture, you can quickly and easily minimize minor surface imperfections and irregularities. ConFlex XL Texture visually improves tilt-up and matches existing textured surfaces, improving the building’s exterior image and leasing appeal. It is the ideal specification for property managers and building owners who want a fresh, textured uniform exterior appearance and long-lasting curb appeal with maximum protection from wind driven-rain. ConFlex XL Texture is suitable for new work or repaints and is available in medium texture (fine and extra coarse by special order).

A complete system from start to finish

Our comprehensive system of masonry coatings provides long-term moisture protection and lasting appearance. From waterproof coatings, water repellents and sealants—to primers, fillers and patching compounds—our exterior and interior masonry coatings perform on all substrates, in all types of climate conditions and environments.
